REVENUE

Our business model is centered around a diversified revenue stream that leverages fan engagement and merchandise sales.

Starting with 160,000 fans in Year 1 and expanding to 331,776 by Year 5, this growth is fueled by targeted marketing and strategic athlete partnerships. Merchandise sales, a key revenue stream, scale proportionally, increasing from 80,000 units in Year 1 to 165,888 units in Year 5.

This growth is supported by exclusive athlete-branded products, seasonal launches, and a scalable e-commerce platform. The combination of fan engagement and merchandise scalability ensures a sustainable and profitable revenue model over time.

GROSS MARGIN

The gross margin analysis for SportX Coin demonstrates significant improvement in profitability over the five-year period, driven by strong revenue growth and efficient cost management.

Total revenue grew from $2.22 million in Year 1 to $4.16 million in Year 5, while the cost of goods sold (COGS) increased at a slower rate, from $893,292 in Year 1 to $1.37 million in Year 5. This led to gross profit rising from $1.33 million in Year 1 to $2.79 million in Year 5, achieving a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of approximately 20%.

The gross margin improved consistently each year, reflecting increasing operational efficiency. In Year 1, the gross margin stood at 59.8%, which climbed steadily to 67.11% by Year 5.

The key driver of this growth was the merchandise segment, which significantly increased revenues while maintaining a proportionally lower cost structure. Additionally, the cost of support to junior athletes, which declined from $333,292 in Year 1 to $208,195 in Year 5, contributed to a higher gross margin.

This suggests that the business optimized its operational costs over time while continuing to expand its revenue base. Overall, the steady improvement in gross margin highlights a strong trajectory toward profitability and financial sustainability.

ANALYSIS

AVERAGE VALUATION: $129M

MEDIAN VALUATION: $34M

25TH PERCENTILE: $19M

The average implied valuation of the peer group is $128,989,095.

If the company's valuation aligns with this figure, it reflects a valuation that considers the influence of higher-valued companies in the group.

However, since the average is skewed by outliers (e.g., FLOW at $1B), this valuation might overestimate the company's true market value if it lacks similar market dominance or growth prospects.

The median implied valuation is $34,127,009, representing the middle value in the dataset. A valuation based on the median is more robust and less influenced by outliers.

This approach is suitable if the company aligns more closely with the "typical" peers in the dataset and does not have the extreme market potential or size seen in outliers like FLOW.

RELATIVE PRICING

Exclusive digital content, NFTs, and one-of-a-kind experiences. The Value for these differ from person to person. There is no absolute. The comparison is with the market and existing companies

OBJECTIVE OF THE ANALYSIS

This report aims to evaluate the implied valuation of the company by benchmarking it against comparable peers in the industry.

The analysis utilizes implied enterprise value data from a sample of companies and employs statistical measures such as the average, median, and percentiles to determine whether the company's valuation is aggressive or conservative.

STATISTICAL INSIGHTS

The average valuation of the dataset is $129M, heavily influenced by outliers like FLOW, which is valued at over $1B. The median valuation, at $34M, provides a more accurate representation of the central value within the peer group.

Companies with valuations below the 25th percentile ($19M) are considered conservatively valued, while those significantly exceeding the 75th percentile are deemed aggressive.

This statistical distribution offers a benchmark for evaluating the company in question.

DATASET OVERVIEW

The dataset consists of 20 companies with implied valuations ranging from $7.5M to $1B.

Significant outliers, such as FLOW with a valuation of $1B, skew the average upward, making the median a more reliable indicator of central tendency.
